BERLIN ADMITS SILESIA IS LOST

Yanks Gain 3½ Miles

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY, Jan.27 (AP)—American Third Army troops advanced up to three and a half miles on a 23-mile front today, occupying 11 towns. Additional elements pushed to the west bank of the River Our forming the Luxembourg-German border.

Hitler Loses Silesia Empire

LONDON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The Germans announced today the Red army had knocked out Hitler's war-vital industries in Rich Upper Silesia and had lunged up to the Obra river 97 miles from Berlin. German war industries in Upper Silesia—roughly the area between Oppeln and the Sudeten mountains—have been shut down, the Transocean Agency said. The broadcast added that workers and the population of the area were evacuated somewhere to the rear with the fate of "the industrial fortress of Upper Silesia handed over to the soldiers of the east front."

The announcement meant that Hitler had lost the industrial power of one of the Reich's greatest arsenals, increasingly vital to the Germans since the mass bombings of the Ruhr in the west.

"To the very last minute," said the transocean broadcast, "the mines, blast furnaces and steel workers kept going. The workers stayed at their benches but finally the terminal station of the railway line was moved back. New arrangements were made for the distribution of works and workers and the population of the area was evacuated to the rear.

"In these areas of the industrial region of Upper Silesia where German soldiers were unable to save it from the grip of a superior enemy, installations were blown up. Volksturm battalions now are fighting at the side of the Grenadiers in the midst of ruined factory buildings and coal dumps."

The German high command said Red spearheads were halted in front of German pisitions on the Obra. This river runs 75 to 95 miles east of Berlin and bulges eastward to form part of the border of Brandenburg, province in which Berlin is situated.

DNB, German news agency, said Russian tanks were stopped at Bentschen (Zbazsyn), astride a main route from Poznan to Berlin.

Still more crushing victories were announced in the north. Marshal Stalin proclaimed the permanent defense system in the Masurian lakes region of East Prussia was smashed.

Stalin announced capture of Rastenburg and other cities on the approaches to Konigsberg, East Prussian capital. The lakes area, which extends across the south central portion of the province, once had been considered by the Germans as impregnable, Stalin observed.

At the same time Gen. Cherniakhovsky was swing an arc around Konigsberg, and a Moscow dis-

EASTERN FRONT—Red army forces were reported today to have reached the Obra river in the German province of Brandenberg after bypassing Poznan. In the north, the Reds drove to the Bay of Danzig and closed on Konigsberg. Berlin admitted upper Silesia has been lost . . . and announced the great industrial province was being overrun by Russians. War workers have been evacuated.

Tighten Gains On West Front

By JAMES M. LONG

PARIS, Jan. 27 (AP)—U. S. Third Army troops striking on a 20-mile front in Luxembourg and Belgium gained up to three miles today and reached the Our river barrier to Germany.

The Third's roll-up to the Our frontier, wiping out last vestiges of the Ardennes bulge, came as the American Ninth and British Second armies in the north consolidated their hold along the west bank of the Roer river inside Germany within 25 miles of Dusseldorf.

Allied troops held the initiative all along the winding Western Front, and the German offensive in Alsace had dwindled out.

American 90th Division patrols reached the Our 4½ miles northeast of Clervaux, Luxembourg, a front dispatch said. They met no resistance. Troops of the 17th Airborne Division punched forward three miles at a point seven miles below St. Vith.

They and three other divisions were astride or across the "Skyline Drive" highway running north to St. Vith on a 1500-foot ridge overlooking the Our and the Germans' Siegfried line guarding the Reich. The 26th Division drove ahead 2½ miles above Wiltz and the 80th and 5th Divisions advanced from a half to one mile. The Third Army bagged 591 more prisoners yesterday.

The U. S. Ninth and British Second Armies held the Roer bank from Roermond to Monschau, 19 miles southeast of Aachen, and had widened the only breach in the Siegfried line to 35 miles.

Russia's great offensives were being felt increasingly on the snowbound western front, as witnessed by the Nazi withdrawal to the Roer river and the halt to German attacks in Alsace.

For the second day pilots reported a steady flow of heavy rail traffic east and northeast from the Ruhr region. This possibly was linked with the mounting menace to Germany in the east. Ruhr train movements might reflect a last-minute shift of hoarded military reserves eastward.

Allied planes battered again Friday at Nazi rail and road transport, and RAF Tactical Air Force planes alone in 150 sorties destroyed 13 locomotives and damaged 18, wrecked or damaged 10 railway cars, and 26 road vehicles.

Snowdrifts hampered all six Allied armies in the west, and fog overhung the Alsace plain where the 79th Division of the U. S. Seventh Army had rubbed out the last German bridgehead over the Moder river west of Haguenau.

Men of the First and Third Armies floundered through snowdrifts as deep as seven to eight feet.

Lt. Gen. Simpson's Ninth Army Doughboys, breaking a lull of six weeks, reached the Roer 25 miles from Dusseldorf with such ease that a scheduled artillery barrage was cancelled.

The British Second Army swept up the Wurm river, a tributary of the Roer, capturing at least six German villages. Scottish patrols mopped up the remainder of the sector all the way to Roermond.

The U. S. First Army captured five more towns in Belgium and edged eastward to within two and a half miles of Germany.

Berlin Evacuation On; Nazi Collapse Looms

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 27 (AP)—Three travelers arriving separately from Berlin declared that slow, gradual evacuation of men and women from the German capital started this morning.

Shortage of rolling stock because of military needs and lack of housing elsewhere was expected to make evacuation difficult, but 25 trains were reported placed at the disposal of refugees 10 miles south of Berlin.

Aftonbladet's Berlin correspondent reported residents of the capital feel now "they are in the very front area. The atmosphere has suddenly changed—Berlin is holding its breath watching the east.

The correspondent said that for the first time this morning newspapers appeared in Berlin as a single sheet. He said editorials continued "concise and severe," stressing that personal cares must be put aside in face of the danger menacing Berlin, and that everyone must fight to the bitter end.

Tram and subway traffic were further restricted.

NAZI GENERAL RADIOS PLEA FOR REVOLT

By the Associated Press

A German general captured by the Russians, broadcasting from Moscow, urged the people of the Reich last night to revolt against Hitler and "put an end to this criminal madness."

"A patriotic and national-minded officer must lead the fight of the army and people against Hitler," declared Maj. Gen. Marin Lattman, once commander of the 14th German Tank Division.

A member of the Soviet-sponsored Free Germany National Committee, he asserted the German people must choose between perishing with Hitler or saving their nation by turning against him because "the German front has collapsed from the Carpathians to the Baltic Sea."

Italy War Called Off Again: Rain

ROME, Jan. 27 (AP)—Action along the Italian front was limited to patrolling again today as driving rains turned the deep snow to slush, Allied headquarters announced today.

During last 24 hours there were only spasmodic patrol clashes reported in both the Fifth Army sector below Bologna and the Eighth Army front above the Bologna-Rimini highway.

U. S. Sub Sinks 21 Jap Ships

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (INS)—The Navy announced today American submarines operating in the Pacific have sunk 21 more Japanese ships, including a light cruiser, a large tanker, one large cargo transport, one medium auxiliary, nine medium cargo vessels, one medium tanker, three small cargo transports.

German Collapse Seen When Konigsberg Falls

LONDON, Jan. 27 (INS)—German-inspired reports that Nazi resistance to Russian armies may collapse with the fall of Konigsberg, capital of East Prussia, poured into London today from neutral cities. At the same time a note of ever increasing urgency crept into war reports issued by the radio.

The German home radio opened its program with a new slogan.

"Win or perish," it told its listeners. "Fight to the very end with all possible means."

Suspiciously similar reports that Germany is close to accepting surrender terms due to the powerful Russian advance came from such German "sounding board" spots as Madrid, Lisbon, Barcelona and Stockholm.

Informed London circles meanwhile believed "anything is likely to happen" in view of Germany's danger from the east. But these quarters said they preferred to await more substantial news of Germany's intentions before preparing to unfurl any flags of victory.

It was believed likely Germany is engaged in sounding out the Allies through the dispatch of such diplomatic servants as Franz von Papen to neutral countries, but these circles reiterated that unconditional surrender is the only basis on which the Nazis can have peace.

One unconfirmed report reaching London from a neutral source asserted the German command on

Big Guns Duel at Clark Field

By Associated Press

Invasion of another island off the Burma coast kept the Allied ground offensive moving against the Japanese today as B-29's bombed war industries in Tokyo and Indo-China, and a thundering artillery duel around Clark Field delayed the American drive toward Manila.

Troops of the 15th Indian Corps swarmed over the beaches of Chedub island in the British amphibious push toward Rangoon and Singapore. In 30 days, five landings have advanced the British 100 miles from Akyab to Cheduba.

Superforts swept out of two widely separated bases for their double strike today. Some 70 B-29s fom the Marianas Islands bombed industrial targets in Tokyo. Japanese broadcasts said they were over the capital for an hour in the early afternoon, starting fires that weren't brought under control until dusk.

India-based Superforts raided Indo-China, apparently concentrating on Saigon. The original 20th Air Force announcement in Washington did not disclose the target but the enemy-controlled Saigon radio said bombers attacked the Saigon-Cholon area causing "some material damage" in Cholon.

Unconfirmed Tokyo broadcasts claimed Japanese submarines operating in Central Philippine waters hit two transports and a seaplane tender, presumably on the way to Luzon Island.

Only small gains on the northeastern Luzon fronts were reported by Gen. MacArthur, who spent yesterday watching U. S. Sixth Army artillery duel with Japanese guns firing down from the hills north and west of Clark Field.

Many other big Japanese guns were captured by Yanks pushing through the hills from Bamban toward Clark Field. The Japanese fled to prepared positions in the hills, abandoning the finest air field in the Philippines to the Americans.

With the field went batteries of antiaircraft guns and stacks of ammunition. Runways and revetments were littered with millions of dollars' worth of wrecked Japanese planes. They were destroyed by U. S. Air Forces, which also have accounted for 79 locomotives, 466 railroad cars, 18 tanks and 535 trucks and staff cars.

Before the B-29 sweep over Tokyo, Emperor Hirohito approved a record Japanese military budget of 85,000,000,000 yen ($71,400,000,000) for the first fiscal year. This is one-fourth larger than Japan's estimated national income and doesn't include the regular budget.

In Chungking the Chinese army newspaper Sao Tang Pao again published reports today of a Japanese-American naval battle Tuesday off the Chekiang coast of China, but American authorities said they knew nothing of such a conflict and expressed doubt it had occurred.

Mayor Sets Up 10 Hub Coal Stations

Opening of 10 emergency coal stations in the city was ordered today by Mayor John E. Kerrigan after a conference with city officials to discuss measures for alleviating a drastic coal shortage which has threatened to close schools and amusement places.

Kerrigan said Public Works Dept. trucks had been pressed into service to transport coal to the emergency stations in strategic parts of the city, and that city employes would be used to bring coal to sick and aged who were unable to transport their own supplies.

Urging against hysteria, the mayor asked public co-operation, with householders, wherever possible, transporting their own supplies from emergency stations to their homes.

Kerrigan said no home should be heatless during the weekend if those who had enough coal to carry them through until Monday would remain away from the emergency stations. He said they would remain open from now until Monday when a more complete system of distribution could be arranged.

First two emergency stations opened were in Boston Ice Co. coal stations in Massachusetts ave., South End, and Florence st., Roslindale.

Kerrigan said coal users in need should telephone CAP. 8108 where workers will be on 24-hour duty to tell callers where coal may be obtained for week-end needs. After the week-end, investigators will be sent out to determine the needs of all callers, he said.

At the same time Gov. Tobin, who held an emergency conference with state and federal officials at the State House, urged home owners to conserve their supplies through the week-end. He said he had called a conference of Governors of the New England states for next Friday at the State House to discuss measures of combating fuel shortages.

Both Kerrigan and Tobin were agreed that "essential" users must be cared for first in the distribution of available supplies.

Each announced that no immediate order for the closing of schools or amusement places was planned, but warned that they must figure on getting by as long as possible on their available supplies until the present critical shortage was alleviated.

Attending the State House conference with Governor Tobin were Nicholas J. Murphy of the division on the necessaries of life; State Fuel Conservator Richard Doherty; Atty. Gen. Clarence A. Barnes and Asst. Gen. Roger Clapp; Richard L. Bowditch and Robert J. McKechnie, executive secretary of the New England re-

Ward Seizure Ruled Illegal

CHICAGO, Jan. 27 (INS)—Army seizure of Montgomery Ward & Co. properties at the direction of President Roosevelt was ruled a violation of the Constitution today in a historic decision handed down by Federal District Judge Philip Sullivan.

The decision was given on the government's petition for temporary and permanent injunction restraining top executives of the $500,000,000 business from interfering with Army operation of the seized properties, and for a declaratory judgment which if granted would have approved the seizure.

Judge Sullivan's decision upheld the constitutional guarantees made in the Bill of Rights. Counsel for Ward's contended these rights as outlined in the fourth and fifth amendments to the Constitution, guaranteeing security from unreasonable search and seizure, and that no one shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law, were violated by the government seizure.

Ward properties in nine cities were seized by the Army Dec. 28, on order of President Roosevelt, to enforce War Labor Board directives instituting wage increases and maintenance of union membership through the dues checkoff.

In his opinion Judge Sullivan stated:

"I am of the opinion that the President was without authority, either under the War Labor Disputes Act, or under the war powers conferred upon him by the Constitution as Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy to take possession of the plants and facilities of Montgomery Ward & Co."

The opinion of far-reaching wartime importance to both industry and labor, concluded:

"It is with considerable reluctance that I have arrived at the conclusions in this case. Our na-

3 Sick Children Huddle At Cold Stove in Home

Three feverish little children spent the morning huddled over four gas jets on the kitchen stove.

From time to time they stopped rubbing their blue hands together and folded them in prayer and wept.

The case of Mr. and Mrs. George Sliby and their children, Arlene, 7; Kenneth, 6, and Edward, 4, of Broadway, South End, is just one among hundreds today of persons who are suffering and ill from lack of proper heat.

In their five-room tenement there are two radiators, one in the hall and one in the parlor.

"The heat is turned on at 10 a. m., then off and on for short periods during the day. After 9 p. m. it is shut off for the night," said Mrs. Nellie Sliby.

"Last Saturday it was so cold we packed up and went to my relatives, but we can't impose on other families any longer," she said.

The children, who have been out of school with the grippe, spend most of the time in bed, and at night all wrap their heads in towels for warmth.

"After the suffering itself, the doctor's bills which the fuel shortage is causing us is a terrible worry," Mrs. Sliby said.

She said that because the two radiators are usually cold, the only things that have kept the family alive during the past week are the gas jets, the warmth from an electric toaster, and a small electric heater.

"And while these go all day long, my husband and I imagine what the size of the electric bill will be," she added.

Gets Year in Jail For 28c Theft

One year in jail for 28 cents.

That was the sentence imposed on John Scarlet, 48, of Centre st., Newton, in Newton court today when Judge Donald E. Mayberry found him guilty of stealing 28 cents from a newsstand.

"This is the meanest and most contemptible theft I have ever had before me," declared the judge.

Patrolman Henry Turner testified he was standing in a Newton sq. doorway and saw Scarlett take a newspaper (3c) and a quarter from an unattended stand.

Communists Plot to Rule U.S., Says Mormon Chief

Special to the Boston Evening American

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 27—The Communists and their co-conspirators for a new American revolution have planned what the post-war United States is to be, and unless the rest of us are awake, they will have their way, President J. Reuben Clark, top-ranking leader of the Mormon Church, warned.

President Clark is first counselor in the first presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. He repeated a stern yet frank warning he presented to delegates of the 38th annual convention of the Utah Wool Growers Ass'n.

Ripping away the veil of secrecy of the Communistic plans for the United States, Clark declared:

1—A great depression will follow World War II and the Communists will stake everything to cash in—to transplant Russia to the United States.

2—There will be postwar strikes and industrial tieups—brought about under the tutelage and direction of alien revolutionists—so the government can take over, with the revolutionists figuring to go into the driver's seat later.

3—That the nation's rerimentation program, disguised as helping the under-privileged, is leading to state socialism—something that is not democracy, something this is not the concept of a republic.

Declaring he knew of some of the revolutionary elements which will loom large in the postwar era, President Clark said:

"For as their sort have worked in other countries, they stop at nothing — intimidation, lawlessness, plunder, arson and murder, which they have rechristened with the sweeter name of liquidation.

"In other countries they have used all of these things wholesale whenever they have operated. They will do the same here, if their opportunity shall come."

A major factor which Clark said would be present in postwar life is an intense hostility between capital and labor, with alien revolutionary labor leaders planning and attempting to destroy free American labor.

He also discussed various aspects and angles of another major post-war problem facing America, the return of the servicemen—saying:

"I wish to bring together a number of matters—the close relationship of which it is easy to miss—and to indicate that, so assembled, they make a pattern which cannot be accounted for except on the theory that some group of minds is working out a diabolical plan for the destruction of our liberties, our freedom, our divinely inspired constitution and the government our fathers set up thereunder, and the wiping out of our constitutional guarantees and the free lives, the security, the happiness and the blessing we have enjoyed thereunder."

President Clark declared it was true that alien revolutionary leaders now plan so to organize labor that they can take over and operate industry when the exorbitant tribute they lay upon industry no longer permits of its private operation. He said:

"Then these foreign born and trained alien revolutionary leaders are to step in and furnish the management.

"As to the methods they may employ, we should keep in mind the reizure of a great merchandising operation, not by legal process properly issuing from a court after an impartial hearing and served and enforced by a sheriff or other proper peace officer, but by a ukase from a governmental bureau which made the law, judged the law, and then used the U. S. Army to enforce the decision.

"If this can be done to a merchandising institution, it can be done to every vocational activity in the nation.

6, Woman Held In Huge Robbery

CHICAGO, Jan. 27 (AP)—A paper carton, hidden in a West Side bungalow, today, yielded, an estimated $2,000,000 in negotiable securities as police continued their hunt for loot from a Jan. 20 robbery of the E. H. Rumbold Realty Co.'s safety deposit vaults.

Seven persons were detained, three of whom have been charged with robbery ane one, a woman, with disorderly conduct. Detective Chief Walter Storms said police were searching for three other men for questioning.

Charged with burglary are Llewellyn Morgan, 44, Thomas Leahy, 49, and Willie Niemoth, 54, all ex-convicts. The woman is Mrs. Otilla Obinger Wayne, 35.

Storms indicated another $100,000 still may be recovered, and said the $2,000,000 was the largest robbery proceeds ever recovered in Chicago, including the famous Rondout, Ill., mail robbery in 1924.

Officers found the loot stuffed in a paper grocery carton between the inner and outer walls of the attic of the bungalow.

LT. RUTH SELBY, BELMONT NURSE
Urges Nurses to Enroll in Military Service

Nurse Tells Thrills Of Overseas Work

An Army nurse just returned from 28 months' duty overseas finds it difficult to understand the lag in nurse recruitment.

Lt. Ruth Selby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace G. Selby of Sycamore st., Belmont, served for more than two years in the China-Burma-India theater and says she would like to go back and do it all over again.

"It's just that the nurses don't understand how wonderful it is to serve after one has finally joined up. It's tough work but it's fun, too.

"Our boys are tops, and no matter what happens they never let you down. They keep you keyed up when things look dark. After all, they're our boys and it's up to us, the nurses, to take care of them.

"Now I have been assigned to duty in this country, but if they sent me back I'd like that, too. It was an enriching experience.

"Every nurse would join if there was only some way of showing her how wonderful it is to take care of our boys."

Lt. Selby confessed the most difficult things in Persia and India are typhoid, malaria and amoebic dysentery. And the toughest thing to go through is waiting for the bombers to return after they've taken off for a bombing mission.

All the nurses at the American Hospital knew a nearby bombing group and they kept track of each bomber as it returned. When one was late, there was a special agony in waiting for the sound of returning motors.

Her most enchanting experience, she said, was the impromptu Christmas party staged by 600 GIs on the high seas Christmas day as they were returning home. There were only four girls on the ship—all nurses—and the boys got their socks and filled them with all sorts of nonsensical toys they had made themselves.

They held an open-air church service in the afternoon and the GIs got up their own orchestra to have a dance in honor of the four girls that Christmas night.

Di Cicco Admits Rift With Gloria

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27 (INS)—The Los Angeles Examiner said today that Gloria Vanderbilt, New York heiress, and her husband, Pat DiCicco, had decided upon a legal separation.

Di Cicco, former Hollywood agent and recently of the Army, said Gloria wanted to stay in New York and pursue an artistic career, the Examiner explained.

"If she wants a separation, I want her to have it," Di Cicco was quoted as saying. "Neither one of us wants a divorce. If later she wants to marry someone else, I'll give her her freedom. I'm only interested in her happiness."

The heiress, considered one of the wealthiest women in the world, inherits $5,000,000 next month under terms of he Vanderbilt will, in addition to her already immense fortune.

Di Cicco said that while Gloria wanted to stay in New York, he wanted to establish himself in his business in Hollywood.

The couple were married in 1941.

2 Bay State GIs On Trial in Paris

PFC Chester A. Sawyer, Winthrop st., Waltham, and Sgt. John J. Landers of Dwight st. extension, Springfield, are the first two Massachusetts soldiers to become defendants in the black market trials under way in Paris, the Associated Press disclosed today.

They are on trial in a group of nine railway battalion men who, according to allegedly signed confessions read before the court-martial today, organized a gang to plunder U. S. supplies and enrich themselves at the cost of their government.

Sawyer was born in Acton. He was formerly a Boston & Maine Railroad employe. He was inducted into service Nov. 11, 1943, and has been overseas since last August. He is married and has one child. Mrs. Sawyer said she had not heard from him since Dec. 26, when he wrote he was "okay."

Boy-Husband, 17, Denies Killing Wife

FT. WORTH, Tex., Jan. 27 (INS)—Professing bewilderment, 17-year-old Burr Walker, Jr., sat in county jail today, charged with the death of his 18-year-old bride, an expectant mother.

"Why do they think I killed Jeannie? I do not understand," he said.

Awaiting an autopsy report, the complaint against the youth charged he caused the death of his wife by "tying her arms and legs with cord and by squeezing her with arms and hands."

Mrs. Walker died Thursday afternoon shortly after reaching a hospital. A coroner's verdict of death due to shock and hemorrhage was returned.

Young Walker told police he and his wife often played a game in which one would tie the other to the bed, and the one left free then teased the other. He said he had bound his wife's feet and hands to bed posts, with her consent, but he cut the soft cord when he noticed her color changing, and immediately called help.

Hospital attendants notified officers when they noticed the cord marks on Mrs. Walker's wrists and ankles.

Walker said his wife would have become a mother in April.

The young couple came to Ft. Worth last November from Willston Park, Long Island, New York.

7 Cars Derailed Near New Haven

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Jan 27—Several hundred passengers aboard a Hartford-bound train escaped serious injury today when seven cars of the nine-car train left the tracks at Mill River Jct., three miles east of New Haven.

The derailed cars remained upright and New Haven line officials said only a few passengers were hurt. A broken track was believed to be the cause.

Three of the four Shore Line tracks were blocked and several New York and Boston trains, rerouted, were delayed.

Coaches were sent from here to pick up the passengers and continue the run to Hartford.

Pell Hints Hitler, Aides May Escape

By LEON PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (INS)—The question of whether technicalities of international law shall be allowed to save Hitler from the gallows was opened up today in a statement by Herbert Pell, U. S. member of the United Nations War Crimes Commission.

Following official disclosure he would not be sent back to London, Pell said: "Some people seem to think that what the Germans do to their own citizens is their own affair. I don't think so. I think it's a crime against humanity and should be punished."

He revealed he had strongly advocated including crimes against German nationals, for reasons of race or religion, as a proper subject for the commission.

"That course, I presume, aroused dissatisfaction," Pell said, adding that the dissatisfaction came from the United States government, but "not from the White House."

The State Department's attitude was revealed yesterday when Acting Secy. Grew said Pell would not be sent back to London because Congress had failed to appropriate funds for his salary and expenses.

Pell countered with the statement he had offered to go for nothing, but this was opposed by the State Department as illegal.

Pell envisaged the possibility punishment of criminals in this war may go by default, just as it did after the last war, when only a handful of Germans were imprisoned, and only for brief terms.

"The mistake of the last war," he said, "was that we waited until after the peace treaty was signed. If we have any serious idea of applying punishment, the whole setup must be prepared in advance.

"And we must not make a martyr of Hitler by getting him alone. We must get the whole Gestapo."

Pell has no intention of returning to London, or of resuming his work with the commission, unless the State Department takes a more aggressive attitude and finds a way to send him back.

Ickes Denies Any Tax Fraud

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (INS)—Secretary of the Interior Ickes today described published charges that he had filed "incorrect" sworn statements concerning property he owned on Chicago's State st. as "another tempest in a teapot" brewed by the "select 'more calumny for Ickes club'."

"Never to my knowledge," said Ickes in a formal statement, "did I at any time make an affidavit to the board of tax appeals."

Prosecutor Promises Probe of Ickes' Taxes

CHICAGO, Jan. 27 (INS)—The Cook County State's attorney's office today promised a complete investigation of charges by County Assessor John S. Clark that Secretary of the Interior Ickes used an "erroneous" affidavit to obtain a tax reduction on Chicago property.

"There will be no whitewashing of this matter," Gordon Nash, a tax expert in the State's attorney's office, declared. "Our office will leave nothing undone to get at the bottom of the case and learn the facts."

100 Servicemen To Attend Ball

One hundred servicemen will attend the President's Birthday Ball at the Boston Garden Monday night as guests of Oscar Johnson and Eddie and Roy Roy Shipstead, promoters of the Ice Follies.

In a telegram from Cleveland to Dennis W. Delaney, chairman of the Birthday Ball committee, the Shipsteads and Johnson said they were prompted in their offer because Henie Brock, one of their troupe, was an infantile paralysis victim as a boy.

"Proper treatment in the early stages of the disease enabled him to become later an all-around athlete and one of theh country's top skaters," they wired.

Wallace's Friends Move To Salvage Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace's uncertain fate in the Senate Monday, bearing a "reject... nomination goes to an ...m the Senate Commerce Committee.

But in the face of this unprecedented action, friends moved swiftly today in an effort to salvage half a loaf—a Commerce portfolio without leading authority—for the 56-year-old Iowan who stepped down from the vice-presidency just a week ago.

Senators Lucas (D.) of Illinois and Maybank (D.) of North Carolina, Wallace backers, announced support for a committee-approved bill to separate from the Commerce Dept. the vast money-dispensing agencies built around the RFC which Jesse Jones managed for 12 years.

Sen. Pepper (D.) of Florida virtually conceded the bill would pass. He said there would be no objections to its consideration before the nomination is brought up.

The inference was plain that he and others thought Wallace might be confirmed if the Senate had some assurance the monetary powers would not go along with the Cabinet job from which the President fired Jones.

Pepper said he interpreted the Commerce Committee's action yesterday as giving a sort of priority to the legislation, offered by Sen. George (D.) of Georgia, when both matters come up for action, possibly Tuesday (unless Senate rules are suspended, bills and nominations must lay over a day after the committee formally reports).

Wallace, told of the committee's action while attending a reception in his honor in New York last night, would only comment: "I said all that I had to say about that yesterday." He was referring to his testimony before the committee.

In a two-hour session behind closed doors, the committee members voted 14 to 5 against a motion to report Wallace's nomination favorably.

Six Democrats joined with eight Republicans to rebuff the man who had presided over the Senate for the past four years.

Just a few minutes earlier the committee voted 15 to 4 to report the George bill returning the lending agencies to the control of a Federal Loan Administrator and specifically prohibiting the President from transferring them elsewhere.

patch said encirclement of the capital might be a matter of hours.

Berlin said Marshal Zhukov's "beeline for Berlin" drive from central Poland had reached the German-Polish frontier in several places northwest and southwest of Poznan.

Meanwhile, in the north, a force of perhaps 200,000 Nazis was trapped in East Prussia and faced destruction.

Marshal Rokossovsky's brilliant drive to the Danzig bay area split the Junkers province, breeding ground of German militarism, while Zhukov's right wing advanced beyond the Bromberg canal and widened the breach between East Prussia and the rest of Germany.

Moscow reported the Russian winter offensive thus far has cost the Germans 381,000 killed and captured.

A Moscow dispatch said the Germans were throwing armored reserves into their sagging front southwest of Poznan. This dispatch placed the Russians 100 miles east of Berlin.

Moscow advices reported the enemy was attempting at all costs to stabilize the perilous sector where further Soviet gains might shatter the defensive capabilities of the Reich. There are at least three known belts of fortifications between Poznan and Brandenburg, the dispatch said, but the Russians were attacking with a huge weight of tanks, artillery and infantry.

One German report said the situation was "beginning to consolidate," but one of Moscow's broadcasts declared the eastern wall of fortifications "has broken down and under its rubble lie the Wehrmacht's best divisions."

On Zhukov's northern flank, Rokossovsky's drive to the Baltic was paying dividend. Russian corps fanned out along the Nogat river, easternmost branch of the Vistula, sealing the escape corridor for Nazis fleeing Gen. Chernikhovsky's forces farther north and east, which battered at the approaches to Konigsberg, Junkers capital. One Russian tank stopped a final Nazi train attempting to use the escape route.

The capture of Marienburg put the Russians only 24 miles from Danzig, where the war started.

The Germans admitted the Russians had crossed the Oder river in Silesia in great force. The heaviest fighting, Berlin said, was near the Russian bridgehead at Steinau, 35 miles northwest of besieged Breslau, where the Germans claimed to have knocked out 24 tanks.

Flee Berlin

the Eastern front already has been in contact with the Russians. The contact was said to have been made with the prior knowledge of the Berlin high command.

The German radio continued to speak of the Soviet offensive as the "supreme crisis."

Dispatches of neutral correspondents to newspapers in Stockholm and elsewhere said the trek of civilians from the east into the heart of Germany was "assuming the proportions of the greatest exodus of modern times."

The Nazi DNB agency quoted a report in the Duetsches Allgemeine Zeitung saying several million German men and women had abandoned their homes in the past two weeks.

It is estimated "more than 3,100,000 persons of German blood are now trying to evacuate from the east," the London radio said.

The correspondent of the newspaper Dagens Nyheter reported millions of German refugees were welling toward inner Germany. A propaganda spokesman was quoted as saying the people are not panic-stricken although they have no illusions.

Ward's

tion is engaged in a global war, and it is imperative that we contribute everything we have to insure its speedy and successful conclusion. Millions of young Americans are fighting and dying on all of the battlefields of the world and thousands of families are daily saddened by the heartbreaking news that their loved ones have made the supreme sacrifice. Our hospitals are filled with maimed and wounded, physically and mentally ill, who are back from the war.

"Our country is in a great crisis and our liberty and very existence are at stake. So deeply do I feel on this subject that I believe it is not too much to expect that for the duration employers, employes and unions on the home front should make a determined effort to adjust their labor disagreements without resorting to strikes and lock-outs.

"Selfishness, arrogance, intolerance of the rights of others, self-interest and unwillingness to compromise should, during this emergency, be all subordinated for the common good. It may well be that an interruption at this time in the flow of any goods may directly or indirectly affect our armed forces, thereby resulting in added loss of life or in prolonging the war.

"As good American citizens none of us want that to happen. The peacetime privilege of engaging in prolonged labor disputes should be voluntarily suspended for the duration. A tribunal has been established to accomplish peaceful settlements of labor disputes during the war emergency. Loyalty to our country and to our fighting forces should influence disputants in such labor controversies to refrain from waging a campaign against the use of this machinery, but rather should lead them to make every effort to fairly present their disputes before this tribunal and then be guided by its recommendations, even though no method is provided for the enforcement thereof.

"If the disputants are not willing to obey the recommendations of the War Labor Board, which are admittedly only advisory, then Congress alone is the only branch of the government which can compel them to do so. It is the duty of Congress to enact the laws, and the duty of the courts to interpret them.

"Plaintiff's petitions for temporary and permanent injunctions and declaratory judgment are denied. And the complaint is dismissed with costs."

Obviously referring to the government's contention that an adverse decision would destroy the entire industrial structure set up by the government to expedite the building of materials of war, the court declared:

"The constitutional guaranties that protect the sacred rights, liberties and property of American citizens, from the humblest to the most exalted, still remain inviolate.

"These rights may not be transgressed with impunity nor be disregarded because of expediency; neither may they be abridged or suspended, even for a single moment, except in the manner and under the circumstances specifically provided by law."

Sewell Lee Avery, 70-year-old board chairman of Ward's, whose adamant refusal to abide by the WLB directives on the ground they were merely advisory and not enforceable was upheld, was not in the courtroom.

Avery, who was carried bodily from his suite in the executive offices in Chicago by military policemen, when the Department of Commerce first seized Ward properties last spring, is vacationing in Chandler, Ariz.

Counsel for both Ward's and the government previously stated they would carry the case to the Supreme Court in the event of an adverse decision.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (INS)—The existence of the National War Labor Board and the government's wartime labor machinery was imperiled today by the ruling of Federal Judge Sullivan in Chicago that the Army seizure of Montgomery Ward properties was illegal.

First reaction in official circles in Washington was one of concern, but there was no immediate comment from WLB Chairman William H. Davis or Atty-Gen. Biddle, both of whom began at once to study the court's decision.

Mayor Kerrigan's conference at City Hall was attended by School Sup. Arthur Gould and Business Manager Alexander Sullivan, Police Commr. Thomas F. Sullivan, Welfare Commr. William O'Hare, Health Commr. Frederick J. Bailey, Dr. James Manary, City Hospital head; Public Buildings Supt. Leo Powers, Public Works Commr. Leo Morrissey, William L. Kendrick, school department fuel engineer, and Joseph B. White, fuel adviser to the city.

Kerrigan said libraries and museums may be ordered closed tomorrow to conserve fuel and added that inventories of all available supplies were being taken to assure the best possible distribution.

The majority of Boston schools, which are heated on a day-to-day basis, use coal and are dependent entirely on deliveries by dealers to continue sessions, according to Business Manager Sullivan.

Most of the city's theaters and amusement places use oil, it was reported.

Similar conferences were held in many other communities to arrange for compliance with an appeal from the Solid Fuels Administration in Washington for drastic fuel limitation in all northeastern states.

The coal shortage was blamed directly on a major railroad transportation tieup caused by heavy blizzards in the mid-West and upper New York state.

In telegrams to officials in 16 states, C. J. Potter, deputy SFA administrator, instructed them to "do everything possible to eliminate the use of solid fuels in places of amusement such as theaters, moving picture houses, bowling alleys, night clubs, and in educational institutions such as libraries, museums, schools and in any other building, public or private, where this can be done without endangering the health of the community."

L. Leonard Johnson, president of the New England Coal Dealers' Ass'n, told the organization's hundreds of members they are prohibited from delivering any coal or other solid fuel, wood excepted, to any consumer who has on hand more than a 5-day supply of usable fuel of any kind.

2 Portland Families Burning Furniture

Two major coal dealers in Portladn, Me., reported today their docks were bare, and two others said they had insufficient supplies to meet demands.

One coal firm representative disclosed that two coal-less families he knew were "breaking up their furniture" for fuel and another reported that several families in a Portland housing project, lacking coal, were "burning nothing but pine sticks."

Evening schools in Fall River were ordered to close until further notice.

Mayor Francis J. O'Neil of Attleboro said policemen and ration board members had volunteered to see that available supplies went to neediest cases.

All coal truck drivers have been instructed to hold up delivery where one week's supply is found in tht cellar.

Q—I filed my application for emergency maternity and infant care five months ago when my husband was a sergeant. Now he has been promoted to S-Sgt and my baby isn't due until next month. Am I still entitled to the assistance under that program? A. L., Somerville.

A—Yes, you are, as long as your husband was in an eligible grade when you filed your application.

Q—I have just married a soldier. He has government insurance made out to his mother and wishes to have it changed to my name. His mother won't release the policy. Is there any other way he can do it? K. N., Melrose.

A—The soldier's mother doesn't hold the policy; they are not issued in wartime. She has simply a certificate. It is not necessary to have this to make a change in beneficiary. He should request that his personnel officer complete the necessary form requesting such change and that it be filed with the Veterans Administration in Washington. Another certificate will not be issued, but the records in Washington will show the change.

Q—My son was killed in action. His wife receives payment each month for insurance and pension. Is she entitled to both? K. B., Belmont.

A—She is entitled to both. She receives the pension automatically as the widow of a serviceman killed in action, and she receives the insurance because the soldier designated her as beneficiary. If you were dependent upon the soldier for substantial degree of support, you may be eligible for a pension. Contact the Veterans Administration, Federal Bldg., Boston, for detailed information.

Q—I receive family allowance from two sons in the service, $37 from one and $50 from the other, but that is all the income I have. Could I get the $50 from both? R. M., Portland.

A—No. You receive chief support from one son and substantial from the other. The payment for chief support is $50 and indicates that that son contributes the greater share of your support. You may receive it from one son only.

Q—Have received a "yellow discharge" for bad conduct, character unfavorable. Am I eligible for GI Bill rights? Served in Navy. S. A., Winthrop.

A—Under terms of the bill, those with discharges other than dishonorable may apply for benefits. Final decision in such matters rests with Veterans' Administration.

Lt. Gen. Clark Thanks JVA Unit

Commander Louis J. Totino and his "Gore Victory" Corps of the Junior Victory Army in East Cambridge are proud possessors of a letter of praise from Lt. Gen. Mark Clark, commanding officer of the American Fifth Army opposing the Nazis in Italy.

"It is good to know that we have such loyal people on the Home Front supporting our fighting men", Clark's letter said.

In addition to congratulating the corps on its salvage results, Gen. Clark sent an insignia of the Fifth Army.

Commander Totino has also written to Gens. Eisenhower and Patton and expects to send a letter to Gen. Vandergriff, commander of U. S. Marines.

The "Gore" Corps has been urged along with other JVA units to collect new and used decks of playing cards and send or take them to the Citizens' Committee for the Army and Navy, Inc., at 13 Commonwealth ave. for distribution to sailors, soldiers and airmen. The committee is an affiliate of the USO.

Capt. Daniel Petinge reports the corps recently salvaged 98 pounds of scrap paper, 24 pounds of tin, 10 pounds of metal, 15 pounds of rags and nine pounds of waste kitchen fats.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well wrapped in your letter.

Read the next JVA story in Sunday's Advertiser.

TO ELECTRIC UTILITY CUSTOMERS

The War Production Board has requested us to notify you of the issuance of Utilities Order U-9 prohibiting certain uses of electricity. A copy of this Order is printed below.

Title 32 — National Defense
Chapter IX — War Production Board
Part 4500 — Power, Water, Gas and Central Steam Heat
(Utilities Order U-9)

§ 4500.61 Utilities Order U-9. (a) Purpose of this order. War requirements have created a shortage in the supply of coal and other fuels. The purpose of this order is to save fuels used in the generation of electricity by prohibiting certain unnecessary uses of electricity

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, political subdivision, governmental agency or corporation or any organized group of persons whether incorporated or not.

(2) "Electric Supplier" means any person who generates, transmits or distributes electricity.

(c) Prohibited Uses. No person shall use electricity for any of the following purposes:

(1) Outdoor advertising and outdoor promotional lighting.

(2) Outdoor display lighting except where necessary for the conduct of the business of outdoor establishments.

(3) Outdoor decorative and outdoor ornamental lighting.

(4) Show window lighting except where necessary for interior illumination.

(5) Marquee lighting in excess of 60 watts for each marquee.

(6) White way street lighting in excess of the amount determined by local public authority to be necessary for public safety.

(7) Outdoor sign lighting except for:

(i) Directional or identification signs required for fire and police protection, traffic control, transportation terminals or hospitals; or directional or identification signs for any similar essential public services the lighting of which is specifically certified to be necessary by local public authority. Certification shall be made in writing to the appropriate electric supplier and need not be in any particular form;

(ii) Directional or identification signs using not more than 60 watts per establishment, for doctors and for hotels, and other public lodging establishments.

(d) Exemptions. (1) Any electric supplier who considers that compliance with this order by the persons whom it supplies directly and indirectly, will not reduce the consumption of coal or other scarce fuels may apply for exemption for the area it serves to the Office of War Utilities, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: U-9.

(2) The War Production Board may from time to time issue directions exempting designated areas from this order if it finds that compliance within such areas will not reduce the consumption of coal or other scarce fuels in accordance with the purpose of this order.

(e) Appeals. Any person affected by this order who considers that compliance with this order will work an exceptional or unreasonable hardship on him or who considers that compliance will endanger public health or safety may appeal for relief to the District Office of the War Production Board for the area in which the consumer is located, Ref.: U-9.

(f) Notices. (1) Every electric supplier shall, as soon as practicable, notify by publication or otherwise all persons to whom it supplies electricity for uses prohibited by this order of the terms hereof.

(2) If any electric supplier has knowledge of a violation of this order by a person to whom it supplies electricity, it shall inform the person of the violation. If the violation is continued, the electric supplier shall notify the person in writing of the specific terms of the order which apply and of the penalties prescribed for violation and shall mail a copy of the notice to the District Office of the War Production Board for the area in which the consumer is located, Ref.: U-9.

(g) Violations. If the War Production Board determines that any person is using electricity in violation of this order, it may direct the electric supplier serving such person to disconnect service and prescribe the conditions under which service may be reconnected. In addition, any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who in connection with this order wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment.

(h) Effective Date. The effective date of paragraph (c) of this order shall be February 1, 1945.

Issued this 15th day of January, 1945.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD
By
J. Joseph Whelan,
Recording Secretary

You will wish to comply fully with the Order and we urge that you undertake immediately whatever arrangements are necessary to be sure that you do not violate the Order when the mandatory provisions become effective on February 1, 1945.

Any consumer who violates the Order is subject to penalties prescribed by Federal Law which may include the discontinuance of electric service at the direction of the War Production Board. Under the terms of the Order we must report to the War Production Board the name and location of any consumer who refuses to discontinue a violation of the Order.

We have been requested by the War Production Board to urge your immediate voluntary compliance in eliminating your uses of electricity which are prohibited effective February 1, 1945. The Board has also requested that we urge upon you maximum conservation in your other uses of electricity.

Fete Ex-Couriers

MANY A FASHIONABLE young Bostonian who has spent previous winters "ridin' round the mountain" in Kentucky will recall her fascinating experiences as a courier with the Frontier Nursing Service at the luncheon in honor of Mrs. Mary Breckenridge at the Women's Republican Club next Friday.

Member of an old Kentucky family and one of the greatest philanthropists of our times, Mrs. Breckenridge is founder and director of the service which provides nursing for poor folk of the Kentucky mountains who never had medical care before she realized the need and founded the service.

Mrs. Edward Hidalgo

For many years daughters of prominent families in Boston and other cities have volunteered as couriers. It's an experience that appeals especially to girls who are accomplished horsewomen. It's their job to help the trained nurses and doctors much as nurses' aides do in city hospitals. They go everywhere by horseback over mountain trails where roads and motor cars are few and far between, work in the clinics and act as general jacks of all trades.

Post debs Phyllis Long and Frances Baker have come home within the last month after several years of service as couriers and both are quick to tell you that though it's a rugged life and a far cry from the glamour of fancy clothes and stag lines, the job is one they wouldn't have missed for anything and they hope to return.

Edith Hall of Cambridge is another society ex-courier, as are Mrs. J. Harleston Parker, Mrs. Theodore Chase, Mrs. John F. Putnam, Mrs. Richard C. Eberhart, Mrs. Charles S. Stone, Mrs. John F. Perkins, Mrs. John W. Putnam and many more.

BOSTON SOCIETY wins another attractive Gotham bride today when S-Sgt. Samuel Dennis Warren, 4th, son of Mrs. Samuel D. Warren of Marlborough st. and Rocky Hill Farm, Essex, marries Jessica Van Rensselaer Despart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clement L. Despart of New York and Rumson, N. J.

The bride, descendant of distinguished New York and Baltimore families, has been a student at Sarah Lawrence College the past two years. Sgt. Warren is in the Army Air Corps. He graduated from Milton Academy, received his degree from Harvard in '36 and from U. of Virginia Law School in '40. He is a brother of Mrs. Philip Saltonstall Weld and Mrs. Frederick L. W. Richardson, Jr., both of the North Shore. The wedding is in New York.

Infown Center Hailed by Vets

Veterans throughout Massachusetts today hailed the Washington announcement of Brig. Gen. Hines that the administrative and outpatient departments of the Boston Veterans' Bureau would be moved from the West Roxbury Hospital to downtown Boston.

The change has long been advocated by veterans' organizations as a matter of convenience to veterans who contended the West Roxbury hospital was out of the way and a central location was essential.

It was reported from Washington today that the Houghton-Dutton building, Tremont st., and the Old Colony Bank building in Court st. are under consideration as sites for the new quarters.

Pacific Carrier Epic on Screen

In "The Fighting Lady," 20th Century-Fox's thrilling, authentic story of the exploits of an unnamed aircraft carrier in the South Pacific, and "Sunday Dinner for a Soldier," the same studio's Anne Baxter-John Hodiak starring drama, Paramount and Fenway fans are due next week for super-special film fare.

Starting next Thursday, both pictures are due on the M & P twin screens. "The Fighting Lady," which has had terrific word-of-mouth promotion on the part of audiences, is described as a full-length, full-color, full-of-fight picture of blazing carrier action in the Pacific. The narration is by Lt. Robert Taylor.

New Carroll Vanities Due

The new Earl Carroll Vanities of 1945, with a plentitude of beauties, colorful costumes and lavish settings, is due to open a week's engagement at the RKO Boston next Thursday, when "Eadie Was a Lady" will be the companion film attraction.

Heading the Vanities' stage cast are the Wiere Brothers, comedy trio; Eddie Rio, master of ceremonies and zany comedian; Park and Clifford, acrobatic team; Dave and June Hacker, comedy dance team; Jimmy Vey, xylophone wizard; Betty Cadwell, singer, and many others.

"Eadie Was a Lady," a musical comedy, teams Joe Besser and Ann Miller. Besser will be remembered here for his "Sons O'Fun" shenanigans and Miss Miller as one of the screen's loveliest dance stars.

Opera Opens

The Boston Grand Opera Company opens its second season of grand opera at the Opera House tonight with a performance of "Carmen," first of 10 performances. Jennie Tourel will be Carmen; Armand Tokatyan, Don Jose; Alexander Sved, Escamillox; and Elva Rita, Micaela. Dorothy Kirstein will be heard tomorrow evening in "Traviata."

Week-End Stage, Music Highlights

Scarlett Kelly is here again heading the new travelling burlesque show at the Old Howard . . . "Kismet," starring Ronald Colman, Marlene Dietrich and Edward Arnold in a lavish Technicolor production, opens tomorrow on the Modern screen . . . Due tomorrow on the Beacon screen are "Gypsy Wild Cat" and "Singing Sheriff."

Boris Goldovsky, celebrated as well for his sense of humor as his musical knowledge, will give a Chopin concert with comments in Jordan Hall tomorrow at 3:30 p. m

Transfusion

INP by Harry Sinmad

Plasma in the Field—Opening the drive for new registrants in the Army Nurse Corps, Lt. Elizabeth Scheider of Island Pond, Vt., explains to Lorraine Feeley of Bennington st., East Boston, how blood plasma transfusions are given on the battlefield. The demonstration was held in connection with the opening of the drive at the Houghton and Dutton Bldg., Tremont st., Boston.

On Road to Manila—Filipino natives greet fighters of the American Sixth Army as a column of amphibian tanks pauses along a road near Sinmaley, Luzon, during the drive which has already wrested vital Clark Field from the Nips and is now headed for Manila. Joyous natives assured Yanks that although their village was astroyed in the fighting, they prefer the Americans to the plundering Japs.

CAREER STORY

A FEW PERSONS who claim to have inside information about Governor Tobin's plans are doing him a distinct disservice.

They are circulating a report that he will replace Charles F. Connors as chairman of the Massachusetts State Racing Commission.

Governor Tobin

The story has caused deep concern among everybody interested in good government and in Governor Tobin's administration. We certainly believe it is a canard.

Mr. Connors is just about as high-minded and efficient a gentleman as we have in public service in this State.

He has been to horse and dog racing what Judge Landis was to baseball, the only difference being that the late beloved judge drew a magnificent salary for maintaining the honesty of baseball while Mr. Connors has kept Massachusetts racing above criticism at an annual salary of $5360.

WHEN RACING came into being by popular demand of the electorate in 1935 (attendance since then: 24,359,331) the State entered into a partnership with the race tracks; and in the ten years ensuing the public has poured $572,742,468 through the mutuel machines while the Commonwealth of Massachusetts collected from them, for Old Age Pensions, the sum of $27,679,801.51.

That's BIG BUSINESS and will be again when racing resumes.

It's a business which came into being under a cloud of suspicion and which, had it been administered a whit less honestly, would have died aborning.

That it has lived, prospered, provided employment for thousands and enjoyment for milliors—that it has become in fact our No. 1 sport and one of our principal sources of revenue—is due chiefly to the administration of Mr. Connors.

Or let us say it is due chiefly to Mr. Connors and the Governors who had the wisdom to appoint him and retain him in the position he occupies.

---

MR. CONNORS is a Democrat. His appointment to the Racing Commission was made by a Democrat, Governor Ely. He was reappointed by Governors Curley and Hurley, Democrats, and by Governor Saltonstall, Republican.

Charles F. Connors

Senator Saltonstall, in whom the people have shown such great confidence, demonstrated his own confidence in Mr. Connors by designating him chairman of the commission for three gubernatorial terms.

In fact, Senator Saltonstall's confidence in Mr. Connors is one good reason for the public's confidence in Senator Saltonstall.

Mr. Connors is chairman of the executive board of the National Association of Racing Commissioners and has served as its vice-president and president.

He is a successful business man and financially independent of the small salary received from the State.

More important he is immune to conniving pressure groups often found on the fringe of racing, seeking to turn a dishonest dollar at public expense.

Governor Tobin has great opportunities ahead of him and we don't for a minute believe he intends to jeopardize them by dispensing with the services of a distinguished member of his own party who enjoys the complete confidence of all the people in a position of high public trust.

NOT LONG AGO I quoted a poem by Burns and said it was "one of my six favorite poems." Since then men subscribers have been asking: "How about the other five?" The above is one of them . . . Almost weekly some New York policeman, answering an emergency call, officiates at a blessed event. Inquiry as to how the policemen become efficient in this sort of thing reveals they learn the procedure from a book. Either officiating at a blessed event must not be very difficult or that must be a wonderful book. If clever policemen continue to usher so many babies into the world, such affairs will become so common the youngsters concerned will no longer be eligible for membership in the Unusual Blessed Event Club. To be accepted by this club, a person must have been born under unusual circumstances such as in a taxicab, a railroad station, aboard a ship, in a theater, etc. One member of the club was born in a telephone booth.

GRAVE SITUATION: "I'll bet ten bucks the name of the dinosaur in Winsor McCay's cartoons was Effie." That's what I overheard Clem McCarthy saying to a couple of fellows today. That indicates the turf situation is graver than most of us think. Things must be pretty bad when Clem McCarthy will stop talking about horses and begin betting on dinosaurs.

PLEASE NOTE: The Germans originated "psychological warfare." So states a commentator. Ridiculous. What is referred to as "psychological warfare" was being used over 2000 years ago. The victory in World War I was finally clinched by the use of such warfare by the Allies. In this war it is also being effectively used by our side. A German or a Jap is more susceptible to psychological warfare than an American or an Englishman. That is because the more of a sense of humor a man has the more immune he is from the effects of psychological warfare.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: U. S. Marine registers claim the prettiest girls in the United States are in Birmingham, Ala. I can't expert on that. I've never been in that town. However, Gail Patrick, the Hollywoodian, is originally from Birmingham and she certainly is easy to look at . . . "Do you think it is silly for a young woman who has just become a mother to still wish to be a photographer's model?" asks a New Yorker. What's silly about it? Ninety per cent of the models in Manhattan are married and many are mothers.

SIDELIGHTS: It is said men do the best outdoor work in a temperature of between 60 and 70 degrees Fahrenheit with moderate humidity, a gentle breeze and agreeable sunshine. The climate of what section of the United States do you think the foregoing most closely describes? . . . Am asked why U. S. Army second lieutenants have been nicknamed "90 Day Wonders?" This nickname is not applied to all second lieutenants, only those who have been commissioned by the prescribed wartime 90-day Officers Candidate Course. Even now the West Point training of a second lieutenant takes three years. Normally it is four years.

ASIDES: Excerpt from a Pittsburgher's letter: "This is my wife's night out with the girls and I am staying home minding the baby." He is not kidding, either. How is it at your house? Does the little lady have a regular night out? . . . A San Francisco girl says she had three sweethearts named Herbert at the same time and adds: "I married one of these Herberts. One was from across the United States, one from across the Bay and the other lived across the street. Guess which one I married and the stogie is yours." (Note—I'll guess she married the Herbert from across the street. San Francisco girls nearly always marry San Franciscans.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27—After all these years I am never quite sure whether the little woman is kidding the shirt off me or being genuinely flattering. Anyway, when I came home to our little bull-fighting arena the other night she greeted me sternly and said:

Jesse Jones

"Can't you do something about the President throwing poor Mr. Jones out of a job for that Henry Wallace?"

Now it is my fixed policy never to admit anything short of omnipotence around the little woman—and I trust most of my harnessed male constituents will appreciate why. But I was not prepared for anything like this, so I floundered about trying to think of an answer.

Finally, in what I thought was a very cagey way, I said:

"What do you think I should do?"

"I don't know," said the little woman, who seldom ever makes such an admission, "but something should be done. The idea of tossing poor Mr. Jones out of work just so that man who gets his ideas from astrologers would have something to do when he isn't studying the heavens!"

MORE to stall than anything, I said:

"You keep saying, 'poor Mr. Jones.' He is not poor. He is a very rich man. He made it all himself, which is why many people contend he is the man to handle all those multibillions, instead of Henry, who maybe does not know the difference between 6 per cent compounded semi-annually and the inside of an alligator.

"But that is not the point at issue," I continued. "I do not think I can do anything at this time for Jesse Jones, poor or rich."

"Humph!" sniffed the little woman. "Well—if you don't, I bet the Senate will. Mark my words they will never confirm Wallace!"

I TOLD the little woman I would be glad to mark her words if she would hand me a piece of chalk, but that I thought she was wrong about the Senate. Knowing from past experience how best to confuse her, I erupted facts.

"In the entire history of this country," I said, ponderously, "the Senate has turned down only six Cabinet nominations. These were as follows:

"Andrew Jackson in 1831 when he tried to make Roger B. Taney Secretary of the Treasury. President Tyler saw three nominations heaved out in 1844—James M. Porter for Secretary of War, David Henshaw for Secretary of the Navy and Caleb Cushing for Secretary of the Treasury.

"In 1868 Andrew Johnson was turned down on Henry Stanberry for Attorney-General, and in 1925 Calvin Coolidge was ditched on Charles B. Warren for Attorney-General.

"Mr. Roosevelt has never been turned down once."

The little woman muttered something about "There's a first time for everything," but I had her off balance and kept on talking.

"I do not think there will be as big a stink over this as many imagine. The war news will knock it down. Mr. Roosevelt is a genius of timing and he waited until the war news was terrific before he sprang this business. He knew many people would say:

"'What the devil—we're winning the war, ain't we? What does it matter who's Secretary of Commerce?'

"It was timed to perfection. And don't think the Senators don't know it!"

WELL, IT LOOKED as if we might go on all day when the phone rang and a man said:

"This is a Mr. Farley who used to be in politics!"

We accepted his invitation to lunch and he turned out to be James A. Farley, Postmaster-General back in the days of Roosevelt. All we got out of it was a meal on the cuff, however, because Mr. Farley refused to discuss anything political, including the Jones-Wallace business.

"I wish Mrs. Farley were here," I said. "I'll bet she would say something."

"I'm afraid so, too," agreed Mr. Farley. "But if you wish to call her she is visiting Rosa Ponselle, the opera star, in Baltimore."

On mature consideration I did not call Mrs. Farley. I did not want her warbling "Rigoletto" at me over the telephone.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 27—Now let's hear no more out of Linda Darnell about how her home studio, 20th, doesn't appreciate her allure and how she has to go off the lot to burn up movies and posters.

Limpid-eyed Linda gets "Fallen Angel," which Otto Preminger will produce and direct, and when you think of what Otto did for Gene Tierney in "Laura," there is every reason to believe he can wave the same sophisticated wand over the Darnell girl.

Linda Darnell

Movie actresses no longer want to be nice on the screen. They want to be as naughty as the Hays office permits, and in "Fallen Angel" there is not only an ultra modern love story but a murder tossed in for good measure. Marty Holland wrote the book, which will be published in the spring by Dutton.

I COULDN'T be happier that Lillian Gish's whole career seems to have taken on new impetus since she played in "Miss Susie Slagle." The latest news concerning her is Lillian has put her name on a contract with David Selznick for the mother role in "Duel in the Sun," Niven Busch's novel.

WHEN WALTER HOWEY, of the Boston Record-American and other Hearst newspapers, gets excited over a show, then it's time to listen. Well, it seems Bob Hope put on a program to raise money for the wounded soldiers in New England hospitals, under the auspices of the Hearst Boston newspapers. Although there was zero wave it proved to be the biggest money attraction in the history of Boston and brought the newspaper fund for wounded service men above $200,000. The Massachusetts Legislature called for an investigation of the ticket distribution, but there wasn't any scandal, it was just people paying to hear Bob Hope, Jerry Colonna, Frances Langford, Vera Vague and Toni Romano. The Boston Legion got so interested that Bob and Jerry, who is from Boston, were presented with citations.

MOST EXPENSIVE motion picture ever made is "Caesar and Cleopatra" which Gabriel Pascal made in London. It cost £3,000,000 to make, and at the current rate of exchange that is about $12,000,000, and no picture ever made in Hollywood approached that sum. War conditions in London are responsible for the picture costing that amount. It takes weeks and weeks to get materials and workmen. A costume which would take a few days to supply here, took weeks, sometimes a month. Just the detail of getting paper to make the models for the costumes was a venture. And, of course, there were the salaries, such as Claude Rains being paid $1,000,000 so he could collect $50,000. George Bernard Shaw went to the studio every week to see the rushes, and is said to be very pleased with the picture.

Boston After Dark

EXCLUSIVE: Fred Allen is going to be back on the air in March . . . With his own show, that is, and not as a guest-star . . . Rise Stevens' appearance at Symphony Hall is scheduled for Feb. 17, and not Feb. 27 as this column reported (after muffing the date once before) Frankie (The Voice) Sinatra really did lose $60,000 in helping to angel "Glad To See You."

His interest sprung from the two young song writers, Cahn and Styne, who gave him "Come Out, Come Out, Wherever You Are!"—a song that was popular briefly . . . C. and S. wrote music for "Glad to See You" . . .

ALSO EXCLUSIVE: Because Uncle Sam grabbed all the potatoes known as Idahos - potatoes which are grown in the state of that name—a shortage of spuds is foreseen as certain for late March or early April in Maine's potato-digging centers . . . Aroostook County farmers, particularly, are warning their friends—including those in Roosevelt-America—that the popular vegetable is on the verge of being scarce indeed . . . But hoarders may defeat their own purpose if they load up on the commodity . . . Uncle Sam is not ready for another rationing fiasco, and if he cuts the strings of the sacks of Idahos which he alone controls, the market might well be surfeited with the produce . . . (Anyway, don't hoard. Be an American.)

POOR OL' NOEL (Dear Noel) Coward . . . The blasting given London's most utter sophisticate in America might have been expected as a result of his disparaging remarks about our "homespun" and "foursome" Congressmen, and the "Brooklyn boys" he said were "whining" about their wounds in overseas hospitals . . . But imagine London-town turning on its pet, its foremost theatrical luminary! . . . Reports from the British capital which chided censors have it that Noel was hissed, and booed when he attended the premiere of a Lynn Fontanne and Alfred Lunt show . . . But the added information that missiles were hurled at the darling of Mayfair is too, too unfelicitous to be credited . . . The reports, nevertheless, are in . . . (And I guess we'll have to believe them.)

NEXT on the big time agenda which suddenly have made Boston the entertainment center of the country comes the Jack Benny show at Symphony Hall . . . There couldn't be a better cause than the one espoused by the President with such warmth that it has assumed an annual place on the country's calendar . . . It is safe to predict that the March of Dimes will be a yearly "drive" whether or not there's a Fifth (or Sixth) Term or whether there's another occupant in the White House.

DICK BLAKE, who plays Korsakov in "Catherine Was Great," had an unique experience this early morning in Ruby Foo's Den . . . Only Last Sunday, Dick married a beautiful young thrush you possibly have heard on the radio on or via the discs under her professional name of Kay Vernon . . . Last midnight, by pre-arrangement with the bride, Actor Blake talked via long-distance with Mrs. Blake . . . The call cost him $1.70 . . . As he stepped out of the phone booth, Dick dropped a casual nickel into a juke-box, the one which stands near the phone booth in "Gin Rummy Corner" of The Den . . . As Mr. Blake strolled back to his table, the juke-box started to give out with the melody the Blake nickel had inspired . . . The number turned out to be "You Never Say Yes" . . . The singer? . . . She happened to be Kay (Mrs. Dick Blake) Vernon . . . Not that Richard begrudges himself that $1.70 investment . . . But his bride was very good on the recording, too.

Desserts All Love

By MARTHA LEE

UNLIKE that prince who lived in a tower, we cannot, when we wish to travel, just say the magic word "Abracadabra," and then go out the window onto a magic carpet to interesting places far away. But we do have things come to us almost like magic; in fact, the tin can is our modern "magic carpet."

By canning the products right where they are best produced, we obtain their full flavor. For instance, pineapple that is allowed to ripen naturally has a much finer and more delicate flavor than those picked green and allowed to ripen artificially.

Now that it takes 40 points for a No. 2 can of pineapple, most of us serve it for extra special occasions, but even so that does not take away the fact that it is delicious and comes to us like magic from across the Pacific.

PINEAPPLE TOPPED PUDDING

1¾ cups sifted flour
2½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
¼ cup shortening 1 cup sugar
1 egg ½ tsp. lemon extract
2-3 cup milk
2 cups canned shredded pineapple, drained
4 tbsp. brown sugar

Mix flour, baking powder and salt, and sift 3 times. Cream shortening until soft; add sugar gradually beating until light; beat in egg and flavoring. Add flour alternately with milk, beating until smooth after each addition. Place shredded pineapple, drained, in greased pan and sprinkle with brown sugar; cover with batter and bake in moderate oven (350 to 375 deg. F.) for 30 to 45 minutes, or until done. Invert on large plate and serve with whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

This attractive golden colored peach salad is a perfect compliment to cold weather dinners or luncheons. The cheerful salad is loaded with appetite appeal, it is decorative and best of all, it tastes delicious—so much so, in fact, that you will want to serve it frequently until fresh fruits are once more available.

PEACH SALAD

8 canned clear peach halves
1 cup cottage cheese
1 (3-oz.) pkg. cream cheese
Salt and pepper to taste
1-3 cup chopped radishes
¼ cup chopped green sweet pepper
Salad greens for garnish
Mayonnaise
Paprika

Drain peaches thoroughly. Chill. Combine cottage cheese, cream cheese, salt and pepper, radishes and sweet pepper and blend. Fill peach halves with cheese filling. Put each two filled peach halves together to form four whole peaches. Stand peaches on end on garnished salad plates. Top with mayonnaise and sprinkle with paprika. Makes 4 servings.

PEAR SALAD

Place drained canned pear half, cut side down, on bed of crisp lettuce on salad plate; stick with blanched sliced almonds and garnish with sliced maraschino cherries. Serve with French dressing mixed with melted currant jelly.

Post-War Fashions More Feminine

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

REMEMBER THE SHINGLE HAIRCUT and the flat-chested flapper? A quarter of a century ago, women thought they'd stand a better chance of hanging on to their new-found jobs and their freedom if they looked and acted mannish.—Today they realize it's good business to look feminine . . . whether they're office workers or members of Congress.

That's the way Mrs. Elinor Guthrie McVickar, formerly beauty editor of Harper's Bazaar, and now, director of the Dorothy Gray Laboratories, sizes up the postwar situation in which women must be distinctly American women and utterly feminine, beautiful not in the commonly accepted sense of the word, but vital. Speaking before the Boston Fashion Group, Mrs. McVickar stressed health, vitality and naturalness as the trademarks of the modern American woman, trademarks which she must never relinquish at any cost.

"War may be making cigarets scarce, but it is certainly increasing the number of good-looking women in this country," she said. "The American woman's clothes used to show a French influence, but with no Paris fashions to copy during the war, she's developed her own fashion personality. It's easy, casual and youthful. Even when Paris is back on its feet, it's going to be the American woman whose appearance will set the standard for the whole world."

Chalk up a big, fat ditto for me on that score. The American look for American women is as much a movement in this country, as the freedom the boys are fighting for. It's got to be that way, if the American woman is to hold her own in the years to follow.

SEES KEEN COMPETITION

One thing that makes Mrs. McVickar confident the American women won't let down after her war job is done, is that she'd better not, if she wants to catch or keep a husband. For competition will be mighty keen in the post-war world in which women will greatly outnumber men.

"We've had so many women in uniform in this war," Mrs. McVicker continued, "and you can be sure those WACs and WAVES and SPARS, the women Marines and the Army and Navy nurses, are all going to want a few frills after the war. So fashions are bound to be much more feminine after this war.

"An official release from the First Air Force tells us they took a poll among 1025 WACs and that the majority opinion was that the girls are going to pay more attention to such things as facials and pedicures after V-Day."

"EXERCISING" KINDNESS

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Friday—In the past two days I spent a longer time on reading the newspapers than I usually spend, and that is because I have done what I hope every other interested person is doing. I have read the full statements made by Jesse H. Jones and Henry Wallace, and as much of the questioning as was reported in the papers.

The reason I hope that other citizens throughout this nation have taken the time to do this same thing is that I think they will find the two statements, with the questions and answers, a great help in clarifying their own thinking.

Mr. Wallace has been, in his chosen field, successful; but much of his time has been given to government work, and some of his most successful experience in business has come through government work.

Directing the Commodity Credit Corp., the Farm Security Administration, the Farm Credit Administration and the Rural Electrification Administration, and making some $6,000,000,000 worth of loans is proof of vast experience.

WHAT STANDS OUT, as you read—at least, for me—is that one man is looking backwards and the other man is looking forward.

I do not think it is time wasted to read carefully what these two men have to say and to decide where one stands oneself, because it is a fundamental decision which is going to face many of us, and not just in any one field.

We know, we people in the United States, that the world is facing new and unpredictable conditions. We know that to meet these conditions we will have to have realists leading us, who face what the conditions are. At the same time, we know that adherence to old and outmoded answers may lead to destruction.

I HAVE ALWAYS HAD complete faith in the power of the American people to make up their minds as to what they wanted, and to be wise in their decisions, if they had at hand the facts on which to base their judgments.

We jumped into water, waist deep, and waded in to the beach. My assault platoon was heading inland when an .88-mm shell hit among us. That's when I lost my left foot. It fractured my right foot too. I couldn't get my morphine 'syrette' out, but an officer gave me one. The medics reached me in the first hour, but I lay on the beach all that day. A 'duck' took me off that night and a British ship carried me back to England. They brought me to an evacuation hospital. There were Army nurses in combat fatigues in the receiving tent. One of them cut off my bloodstained clothing, bathed me, gave me plasma twice. I guess that nurse saved my life."*

DOCTOR'S TROUBLES

Army Puts New England Below-Health Average

By AUSTEN LAKE

WE MASSACHUSETTERS HAVE always given ourselves congratulatory handshakes for having one of the nation's finest health resorts. Our travel agencies and Chamber of Commerce spend millions on advertising teasers to bring outsiders to our ocean front, crystal lakes, emerald hills and immaculate winter. We think we have a corpuscle-building community. And, as a whole, we HAVE!

Austen Lake

Yet Army medical data reveal the rude story that Massachusetts is 1.4 per cent under the national health average. Massachusetts has a 37.4 per cent rejection-ration of white men examined at induction centers between the ages of 18 and 44, as against a national discard-average of 36. And the castoff figure for six New England states is 37.9, or more than one of every three men to report. The Army finds this a fair, overall health index for the region.

These are figures which deserve close study for their postwar effect on the state's economy. For with legislation now being incubated for enlarging such social security measures as subsidized medicine, workman's sick compensation, unemployment insurance, and old age incompetence, whatever concerns the public's health deficiency becomes increasingly significant as a state liability. I put accent on the money-cost because such an argument appeals to the more sensitive region of our citizen's being—the pocketbook! Nothing causes the citizenry such anguish as mention of a bigger tax chew! Yeeeoww!

Men of 28 Are 40% Unfit

NOW HEALTH BEGINS, NOT in adulthood, but in preadolescence. That is when diet-balance (if they can get it!), corrective exercise, hygiene habit and play-outlets are established for life. Maturity is too late! For it's a simple axiom of human horticulture that a malformed, ill-nourished seedling will become a crooked, fruitless tree.

We do not wish to fatten our youth for future wars. But we do want to strengthen it for later citizenship, for which a sound mind, good nerve hookup, firm body is the foundation for normal adult behaviour. Thus we of a Commonwealth that is justly proud of our past leaderships in youth preparation such as playground-systems, municipal recreation programs and public health clinics, must examine the army's rejection data as a road sign to the future. For no public investment yields quicker and greater social dividends than by buying futurities in Youth, the hereditary successor to ALL we possess. Well, can't take it with us, can we?

For many years we've listened to race horse, dog and cattle fanciers prate about "improving the breed." Millions are spent or gambled on the theory. But few folk bother about improving our youthful breed. Usually we wait for youth to grow up and come apart from [illegible] of galloping disintegration and then spend huge sums on "cures" like the $125,232 the state spent in the last fiscal year on public mental institutions.

Army statistics show that, as a man grows older he [illegible] his liability [illegible] to state. But every army knows that—like [illegible] shows th[illegible] even the [illegible] survey [illegible] major [illegible] 287 [illegible] 284 [illegible] 18 A[illegible] fit[illegible]

Weak'—Sc[illegible]y of Childhood!

[illegible] tagged "[illegible]" [illegible] 4,000,000 were [illegible] unfit! In addition [illegible] 1,000,000 soldiers so far discharged for defects (not wounds, or course) developed under induction. And these figures come from the U. S. Senate's subcommittee on Wartime Education and Health.

What kind of defects? Leading the list come mental ailments and nerve instability. Not incipient insanity mind you! But indications of a "low cracking point" under pressure of training and combat. For experience from the last war taught the medicos a lot about "un-serviceable" soldiers. There were no psychiatric screening tests then and the proportion of men who came mentally and nervously unhinged was huge. So was the cost of postwar hospitalization, disability allowances and early insurance payoffs. So, this time, to save wasting more billions on training and dislocating manpower, the Army set up careful screening. Still, large numbers sifted through!

So it took another world war to teach us our failures to furnish American kids with a sound, public health program, and especially the youth in unprivileged regions below poverty's beltline. Indeed, if this writer were President—Aw, let me dream!—his initial act would be to create a Secretariat of Childhood, to sit at the White House table beside the other cabinet members. Mr. Harold Ickes takes care of the nation's fish, Indians, trees, soil conservation, etc. Mrs. Perkins coos maternally at dissident labor factions, Mr. Stimson and Mr. Forrestal administer to our wars.

But who supervises the national conservation of the kids which, in the turnover of each generation, inherit our land, wealth, resources and national afflictions? Don't you agree that we old gaffers, by this time, are just so much empty wind blown through the apple orchard? It's too late for education, hygiene and corrective exercise to straighten out our warped physical, mental and spiritual put-together. The current crop of kids who are the adults of tomorrow can hardly do much worse than we've done. But, with half an extra chance, they might do a lot better.

Would you say we ought to give 'em that chance?

McGill on Cowley Line

By BILL GRIMES

Jack McGill, recently discharged from the RCAF, will play left wing on the Bill Cowley line for the Bruins tonight when they meet the Canadiens in the Montreal Forum. McGill's promotion balances off to some degree the reinstatement by Pres. Red Dutton of the N. H. L. of the Canadiens' Toe Blake who had been shelved for an assault on Ranger rookie Wally Atanas.

Jack McGill is up from the Olympics for the second time. He was with the Pics for most of the 1941-42 season. Then he was called up to the Bruins and in 13 games scored eight goals and 11 assists. And, in the Stanley Cup play downs, he came through with four of the 10 tallies the Rossmen scored against the Blackhawks and the Red Wings. Since he received his discharge, McGill has played five games for the Olympics.

Coach Dit Clapper will direct the Bruins from the bench tonight. He received a painful and stubborn back injury last Tuesday and has been forced to sit out tonight's engagement. Bill Thoms, who has been on the Cowley line since he joined the Rossmen two weeks ago, will be dropped back on the defense tonight.

In the dying moments of the Ranger game a week ago tonight, Blake felled Wally Atanas during a melee at the side of the New Yorkers' cage. For the assault, Blake was given a match misconduct penalty by Referee Bill Chadwick. A match penalty automatically suspends the player until such a time as the president of the league reinstates him and also carries a $100 fine.

After the Ranger game, the Canadiens entrained for Detroit But, Blake stayed in Montreal. Pres. Dutton was in Chicago. He notified the Canadiens that Blake was indefinitely suspended and that he would take no further action until he had received Referee Chadwick's report.

Late yesterday afternoon, Dutton stated over the telephone that he had lifted the Blake suspension and that Toe was eligible to play in the Bruins-Canadiens weekend home and home series.

BLAKE'S RECORD CLEAN

In some quarters, Dutton will be criticized. Blake missed only one game. He'll miss the $100 more than being absent for the 17th consecutive game the Canadiens have played Detroit without a defeat.

Blake had been strictly on his good behavior until the Atanas incident. He's a hard playing two way winger. His contract called for a bonus, if he was leading the league in scoring at Christmas. He's a thrifty young man and hustled at all times to qualify for that extra honorarium. Yet he went through 26 games without a penalty.

Dutton might have shortened the sentence on account of Blake's good behavior in the 29 game played prior to the Atanas affair.

Whether or not Referee Chadwick talked to Atanas after the game, we wouldn't know. But, we do know Atanas' version. Ten years ago, Blake played for the Hamilton Tigers. Atanas was the club mascot. They've been close friends for a decade. Toe followed Wally's career up through the amateur clubs in Hamilton, until the youngster was signed to a Buffalo contract a year ago by Eddie Shore. And Wally has always been one of Blake's staunchest fans.

BRUINS PLAY CANADIENS

"He must have gone berserk," declared Atanas to the writer last Sunday. "We've been pals for years. I was holding him against the side of the cage, so he could not get the puck. Then he suddenly unloaded on me and I hit the ice. It isn't serious. Just a nick on the forehead. After the game, he apologized. It was just one of those things. So we're still pals."

Well, the Bruins are in Montreal and by now have probably learned that, as usual, the Canadiens will be at full strength against them tonight.

Whereas a year ago they took 8 points from the Canadiens, the Bruins haven't been able to do any business this season. However, the Rossmen have shown to better advantage of late and might break the hex the so-called Frenchmen hold over them, either tonight or tomorrow at the Garden.

With all clubs playing doubleheaders, this is a busy week-end in the N.H.L. The Rangers are liable to prove troublesome to the Maple Leafs tonight in Toronto and more so tomorrow in New York, but the Red Wings shouldn't have too much difficulty with the Hawks, unless Don Grosso goes wild tonight in Detroit, where he will make his first appearance since he was sold down the river.

Yankee Deal Gives New Syndicate a Rich Prize

By JACK CONWAY

THE SALE OF the Yankees to a syndicate composed of Col. Leland S. MacPhail, Capt. Dan Topping and Del Webb, Phoenix millionaire, for $2,500,000, as revealed exclusively by Max Kase in yesterday's Boston American, proved that men with great wealth and with a knowledge of baseball still have great faith in the future of the national pastime.

Topping and Webb put up virtually all of the money required to swing the huge deal, while MacPhail will furnish the know how.

Larry MacPhail

Ed Barrow, who has been business manager of the Yanks for years, recently signed a five-year contract with the club, and he is expected to remain with the Yankee organization. MacPhail occupied a post similar to Barrow's when he was with the Brooklyn Dodgers, and this led some persons close to the Yanks to believe that Barrow might be willing to accept the position of High Commissioner of Baseball, vacant since the death of Judge Landis, if it were offered to him.

Barrow, however, has a strong voice in the policies of the Yanks. Apart from his successful career with the club, he has owned 10 per cent of this stock.

The war caused a sharp drop in the price of the Yanks. At the time of Col. Jake Ruppert's death it was stated that the club was worth $6,000,000 along with its farm properties of Newark, Kansas City, Binghamton and Norfolk. Later $4,000,000 was established as the price at which the club could be purchased.

A syndicate headed by James A. Farley, former Postmaster General, cooled off in regard to the Yanks when this country went to war.

Tom Yawkey seriously considered buying the Yanks and selling the Red Sox. It is understood that Yawkey could not find a suitable purchaser for the Sox in which he had invested $4,000,000 and so abandoned the thought of acquiring the rich New York baseball property.

From a financial viewpoint the Yanks should be a better club than the Sox for Yawkey to own. With a ball park capable of accommodating 80,000 persons, the Yanks make money very quickly when they have a winning club.

Fenway Park can only take care of 34,000 fans and it is necessary to turn away thousands of fans from Sunday and holiday attractions. It is likely that in the postwar period Yawkey will try to solve this problem by having a double deck stand built at Fenway Park.

MacPhail is Showman

LARRY MacPHAIL is one of the best showmen in baseball. He spent money freely when directing Brooklyn, while he introduced many innovations at Ebbets Field that attracted thousands of people to the games.

Dan Topping, owner of the Brooklyn Tigers professional football team, has been friendly with MacPhail for several years. Dan, wealthy in his own right, has been anxious to get into baseball.

Topping is married to Sonja Henie, ice skating star, who is a millionaire in her own right. It is unlikely that any of Sonja's money was invested in the baseball deal.

Webb is not known to baseball people, but he is a man of vast wealth. He will be guided in baseball matters by the judgment of MacPhail.

Baseball Assets

IN NORMAL times, the assets of the Yanks would be worth well over $2,500,000, as the club has 350 players between its five organizations, and owns the Yank Stadium as well as ball parks in Newark and Kansas City. It also has valuable baseball franchises.

War has made decided changes in the value of players to the Yanks. Under peacetime conditions Joe DiMaggio would be be worth $250,000, but as a member of the Air Corps he only has potential value to the Yanks. A long war or an injury received while in service might mean that DiMaggio would never play baseball again.

The members of the new syndicate, however, have confidence in the future of baseball. They also feel that the day of victory in the war is approaching rapidly, and they contend that in the post-war period that baseball will once more occupy a leading position in the sports field.

Triple Header Court Card for Philly

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27 (AP)—A triple-header basketball bill will replace the usual Convention Hall double-header on Feb. 10.

Intersectional rivalry between Temple and Duke will highlight the bill, which also will match Penn against Princeton and La-Salle against St. Joseph's.

Derby Seats!

Boxes, the entire lower floor and all of the first balcony are reserved this year for the first time in Silver Skates Derby history.

There are still plenty of good seats available for the Derby at the Garden next Sunday afternoon and tickets are priced at $1.00, $.50, $.35, tax included. They may be secured at the Garden, Arena or at the James W. Brine Sporting Goods store at 92 Summer st.

Ray Schalk's Hit Spoiled Perfect Game

CHICAGO, Jan 27 (AP)—Second Baseman Ray Schalk of the Chicago White Sox rapped out a single last Sept. 16 in a night game at St. Louis for his 120th hit of the season. The blow robbed Brownie hurler Jack Kramer of a no-hit game.

If Kramer had gotten Schalk, who made 129 hits in 1944, it would have been the first perfect game since Charlie Robertson accomplished the feat for the White Sox on April 30, 1922.

Elderly Man and 3 Year Older in Derby

By MIKE GILLOOLY

The mad rush of a gold strike had little on the scramble of the local skaters to get their entries into the mails before the deadline on the Silver Skates Derby so that the meet directors now feel certain that there'll be 500 in the field Sunday afternoon, Feb. 4, at the Boston Garden.

Entries closed with the midnight postmark this morning, in this gala ice carnival to be held by the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser in conjunction with the Mass. Youth Committee.

They've filed for every age and class in the Derby with a 63-year-old man heading the senior event and a three-year-old Medford youngster topping the midget division. There have been families in the lists and it will be no surprise at all to see brothers competing against each other and sisters battling for the same championship.

Double entries from the same week families were quite common. Jimmy and Patsy Chisholm of West Roxbury filed their entries together. Edgar and Gerald Veautour of Fitchburg will be coming to town together. Bob and Larry Cushing of Wilmington made sure that they beat the deadline.

OFFER EXTRA FEATURES

And while the amateur skaters are tuning up for their big day, the Derby officials will be rounding out the program. They've already signed the lovely Miss Eleanor O'Meara, former Ice Capades star, and pretty Jane Weiss of Walpole for a portion of the entertainment. There'll be more to be announced during the

Newton and Rindge Sextets Victorious

Newton High strengthened its grip on third place by outscoring Belmont 5-3 this afternoon at the Boston Garden, while Rindge Tech likewise hung on to the number three spot in the G. B. I. League by rolling over Cambridge Latin 4-1.

Capt. Johnnie Recco got a pair of goals to lead the attack for Newton and Belmont's "Jumpin'" Jack Kelley also counted twice, although his efforts proved futile.

Augie Messure got a goal and a pair of assists to have nice day for himself, while his teammates were belting them into the Cambridge cage to insure victory.

Gallo Captures N. U. Hurdles

Medford High's James Gallo, attempting a double sweep in the first two events on the Northeastern meet program at the Y. M. C. A. gym this afternoon, had to be satisfied with a half a loaf when he was blanked in the dash after winning the hurdles.

Gallo held his lead all the way in the 45-yard timber topping to chalk up five points for the Mustangs. He was shut out of the quick followup over the same route without the obstacles.

In the 45-yard dash, Gallo ran a fifth to Newton's classy one-two combination og Fred De Angelis and Phil Bolster with Dick Liva, Weymouth, third, and George Minot, Arlington, fourth.

Gallo was followed to the tape in the hurdles by Guy Cogswell, Newton; Tom Hennessey, Malden, and Sam Anderson of Boston Tech. Mathew Branche, Boston Latin's ace, ran out of the money.

St. John's Flashes Great Attack

By MIKE GILLOOLY

St. John's High School of Danvers, already tabbed as the Rhode Island State of the Catholic League, will be throwing its highly geared offensive at Mission tomorrow afternoon in the feature of the weekly doubleheader at the Brookline Municipal gymnasium.

In the other half of the twin bill, St. Mary's of Brookline will be tangling with St. Clement's of Somerville.

When a brand new entry in a league starts scoring 71 and 80-points against its rivals, the opposition begins to sit up and take notice. Well, that's just what the classy little Danvers club has been doing, turning in 71 tallies against St. Mary's of Lynn and 80 against Keith Academy. Previously, St. John's had turned in an 89-51 triumph over St. Charles of Waltham and a 65-31 victory over St. Joseph's Juniorate and only yesterday, the team set a new high in schoolboy ranks by bouncing St. Clement's of Somerville, 106 to 35.

The secret of these high scores has been in the system installed by Coach Bob McCabe, former U. S. Marine and a former student of Frank Keaney of R. I. State. Coach McCabe has modeled his attack after Keaney's and he has it working in grand style.

Of course, to make it work, the team has to have the talent. And Coach McCabe has just that in Capt. Jim Schoenholer who has been averaging 15-points per game and Frank McGarry who has chipped in 18 points in each contest. Bill Milacowski fills out the forwards with Tom McDonald and Stan McLean at the guards.

BUSY HOCKEY NIGHT

St. John's has dropped a decision (34-35) so that the team must now be content with second place in the league standings. But in the high school at Danvers, they're still looking forward to the championship and that return game with Central in their own gymnasium.

Schoolboy hockey will be back in stride at full strength tonight with the usual twin session . . . at the Arena, the Eastern Mass. League will be staging another of its replays . . . while at the Skating Club, the Catholic circuit will swing into its second round of competition.

The Eastern loop will give the wild and enthusiastic followers plenty of opportunity for their cheering with Dedham and Natick, deadlocked for first place in the standings, squaring off in the feature . . . other games will find Lexington facing Milton; Hudson tangling with Somerville, and Brookline meeting Wakefield.

In the Catholic League, Malden Catholic, with undisputed hold on the lead, will be out to repeat its 5-1 triumph over St. Patrick's of Stoneham .

Shortage of Coal Threat to Arena

The recent order of the Solid Fuels Administration of Washington, curtailing or elimination of coal in places of amusement includes Massachusetts in the 16 states affected. The area houses such sport centers as the Boston Garden, Boston Arena and Mechanics Building.

The Arena, which is heated by coal is the only local sports center involved.

Mechanics Building uses coal, but this building also houses regular tenants heated day and night.

Pics Now Ready For Washington

Those amazing Boston Olympics who suddenly snap out of a slump with a superior brand of hockey will tackle the Washington Lions tonight at the Boston Garden.

The Pics' league lead has been constantly threatened by the Baltimore Blades. The locals met the test at the Boston Garden last night when they thrashed the Eddie Shore entries 8 to 0.

In last night's game the Baltimore boys really beat themselves. Seven of the eight Pic goals were scored with one or more Blade players in the penalty box.

Coach Hago Harrington revamped his lineup for last night's tilt and was so successful he will shoot the same works against Washington tonight. Harvey Bennett replaced Maurice Courteau in goal, Fernie Flamon became a right winger and Alan Rittinger moved to center ice. The Pics by winning this battle, gained a three point advantage in the league lead.

With over 7000 fans at last night's game, Mgr. Tom Kanaly of the Garden expects to hit the 10,000 mark in the Pic-Washington game tonight which starts at 8:30.

10 Fuel Depots Named

INP by Frank Mahoney

Oil for the Tanks of Boston—Ploughing its way through heavy ice in the Charles river, this oil tanker brings a cargo of precious fuel to the rapidly depleting tanks at Cambridge while overland rail shipments to this area continue to be banned under an ODT order

It's Hot!

Doughnuts and hot coffee hit the spot with Pvt. Anthony Dellisola of Leyden st., Medford . . . and that's what he's getting from an American Red Cross girl—behind the lines in Italy.

Fought

Florentina Punsalon, 20, member of a guerrilla band on Luzon for a year and a half, tastes American Army C rations while Yanks look on. She is credited with killing two Japs. AP Wirephoto

Ice Covers Ruins

Heavily coated in a mantle of ice following a $250,000 fire, these ruins of three business blocks in Bangor, Me., give grim proof of the intense, 11 below zero, cold under which firemen fought to save surrounding buildings. German prisoners of war begin cleaning up the debris today. AP Wirephoto
